

ARREST CLEARY FOR BIG THEFT

Was Acquitted in New York
State of Killing His Son-in-law.

FUGITIVE FOR MONTHS

Dodged Police and Later Came Here
After Alleged Malfeasance—Charged with Stealing $10,000 in Funds.

William V. Cleary, former Democratic "boss" of Rockland County, N. Y., who was acquitted a year ago of killing his son-in-law, a youth who had secretly married his daughter, was arrested in Union Station yesterday. The arrest terminated a nine months' search by New York authorities and a "good time" dodging the police by Cleary. Cleary was turned over to an attorney of Rockland County's district attorney's office and taken back to Haverstraw, N. Y., his former home, to answer a charge of malfeasance as town clerk, about $10,000 being involved.

Cleary was acquitted in December on the charge of killing his son-in-law. Cleary then was town clerk in Haverstraw and a prominent politician. Eugene Newman, a youth, had gone to his office to tell Cleary he had been secretly married to his daughter for several weeks.

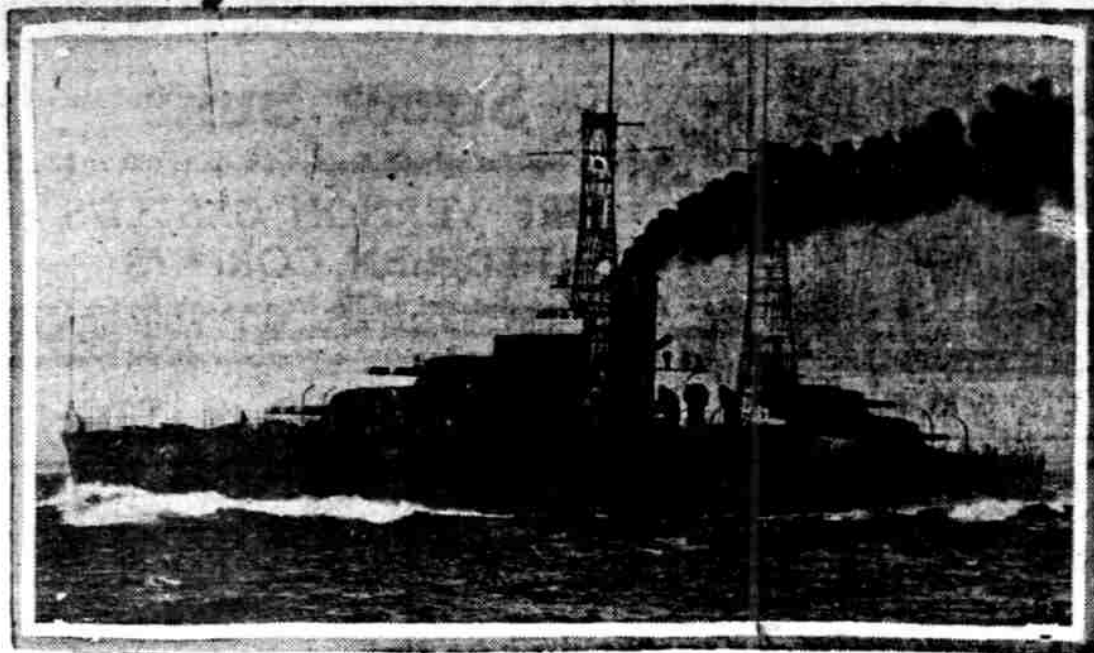

At the trial he was brought out that before Newman could say he had married the girl he was shot down, four bullets entering his body. Cleary was acquitted on the grounds of being temporarily insane when he shot Newman.

Shortly after the trial he and his wife disappeared. After he had vanished, county authorities unearthed graft in a contract for building roads, it is said, in which Cleary was supposed to have gotten $10,000. A reward of $500 was offered for his arrest. Washington police learned Cleary and his wife came here several days ago. The New York authorities were notified and an official arrived here yesterday with the warrant for his arrest.

Cleary and his wife were rooming near Fifteenth and F streets northwest. During all of Wednesday night the house was watched by detectives. The couple yesterday morning went to Union Station to see a friend's departure. They were arrested there by Detective Cornwell.

"We had a good time dodging the police for nine months," Mrs. Cleary is said to have remarked to police.

ITALY TO CONTINUE WAR.

Will Mr. No Efforts Toward Separat. Peace, Says Rome.

The Italian Embassy yesterday announced that it had been instructed by the government at Rome to deny most emphatically reports that the Italian government was making any kind of attempt to negotiate a separate peace in Europe at this time. The issuance of this statement by direction of the Italian government is due, it is believed, to the fact that Italy did not join her allies in the recent reiteration of their pledge to one another not to make peace separately. This pledge was renewed by Great Britain, France and Russia on the occasion of Japan announcing her adhesion to it.

to Berlin Dispatch.

Berlin (wireless via Sayville), Nov. 4.—The following statement was issued today by the semi-official Transocean News Bureau:

"The Isosno battle, after two weeks' duration, has ended in an Italian breakdown, owing to lack of reserves and ammunition. Between Kryn, Height (Cogneto) and the sea nine army corps took part on the Italian side, with at least twenty-four infantry divisions and two groups of Alpini—that is, 30,000 rifles, 1,300 cannon and 180 heavy cannon. At the same time on the Tyrol front there were only four Italian corps, with at least eleven infantry divisions—that is, 17,000 rifles, 700 cannon and 100 heavy cannon."

"The Austro-Hungarians took 67 officers and 2,300 soldiers prisoners on the Isosno front between October 21 and 23. The Italian losses are estimated at 150,000 men."

Will Have to Economize.

Commissioners of the United States to the National Exposition of Panama, scheduled to start in Panama City January 21, will not have what some might term an orgy—at least, on the money furnished to them by the Treasury Department. A ruling of the Comptroller of the Treasury says $4 a day is the limit that will be allowed for commissioners to show Panamanians what sort of fellows the Americans are.

The exposition is designed to strengthen the ties between Panama and Spain, as well as to promote the interests of the Americas. Also it will be a celebration of the discovery of the Pacific by Balboa on September 25, 1513.
